

But....

- How well do these work on standard problems?
- How do they compare?
- What kind of algorithms work best?
- How easy are they to program?

