

Identify Importance in Real Time

Do some users have a better sense of what topics will ultimately prove important from a clinical perspective?

Can this information be used to identify emerging important topics?