

Conclusions

- Results show diminishing returns with increasing compliance
- Benefits in low extremes, very little benefit at high extremes
- More pronounced with low transmission rates
- Efficacy of hand-hygiene process matters